

Alicia Tremblay
HNB Volunteer of the Year

Hockey New Brunswick is pleased to award the 2021-22 Volunteer of the Year to Alicia Tremblay of Oromocto, N.B.

Established in 1995, Volunteer of the Year recognizes an active volunteer in the hockey community who makes outstanding contributions to the sport.

Alicia is always the first person to step forward and help. She has served on the Oromocto Minor Hockey Association board for the past several years and in the 2021-22 season held both the tournament director and U9 positions. When the U9 director role was vacant, Alicia volunteered to run the division. No matter what is needed, Alicia will be there to lend a hand and make things happen.

In the summer, Alicia organizes the OMHA summer hockey league – a job that encompasses everything from booking ice and officials to setting up teams and finding coaches. The massive undertaking is sincerely appreciated by families, allowing players to maintain their skill development during the summer. Alicia is passionate about hockey and is steadfastly committed to her community.

Over the past two seasons, Alicia has worked tirelessly to ensure the effects of COVID were minimized. She spent countless hours organizing and pivoting when plans had to change. When events had to be postponed, she maintained constant communication to keep families updated, including timely refunds and information about potential future events.

Alicia is known for her work ethic, time management, organizational skills and positive nature. In everything she does, Alicia puts players, families and supporters first.

Congratulations to Alicia on her achievements.
